Expansive Population Growth

- This unprecedented growth and its current size is largely attributable to high immigration and birth rates.
- If current patterns persist, there will be over 100 million Hispanics living in the United States by the year 2050.
Diversity
• The majority of Hispanics living in the United States is not composed of immigrants; majority was born here.

• Approximately 60% of Hispanic Residents are US Citizens by birth
Hispanic vs. Latino?

- Hispanic refers to people whose native language is Spanish or who are descendants of Spanish speaking ancestors.
- Latino is generally used to describe US residents of Latin American origin, regardless of their native language.
- Hispanic/Latino is neither a racial nor ethnic category.

Urban vs. Rural

- There is a tendency to stereotype Hispanics as rural but Hispanics are considerably more urban than the rest of the US population.

- Only about 10 percent of Hispanics live outside of metropolitan areas, while almost a quarter of non-Hispanics do.

- Within these urban areas, Hispanics are likely to hold lower-wage jobs in construction, retail trade, and service.

- Suburban counties surrounding major cities have attracted substantial numbers of Hispanics due to the labor needs associated with the construction and landscaping industry.

Thoughts

• What is our bottom line as a state?
• What kind of conversation should we have about the future?
• What role will immigrants play in the future to guide our actions and requests of the people?
