UNDERGRADUATE MAJORS

HOUSING

Prepares students to work in various aspects of housing including needs assessment; financing; federal, state and local housing programs; housing policy; housing theory; household technology; property management and real estate. Students may choose an emphasis in Residential Property Management, which prepares students to work with diverse groups as they manage real estate. Coursework delves into such topics as mortgages, financing, governmental policies dealing with housing, and social issues related to the field, and also includes sales (leasing), accounting, development, human resources, technology services, training, and management.

CONSUMER ECONOMICS

Prepares students to understand how consumers make choices in a changing economy and how fraud and deceptions, products of varying quality, and inadequate consumer information influence consumer options in the marketplace. Consumer Economics also is offered on the UGA Griffin campus. Griffin is 35 miles south of the Atlanta Hartsfield-Jackson Airport.

FINANCIAL PLANNING

Prepares students for careers in financial services and financial planning through coursework that includes insurance, taxation, savings and investments, retirement, and estate planning. The courses in the curriculum are rigorous and meet the Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards™ education requirements. In addition to meeting the education requirements, one must also pass the CFP® Certification Examination and have at least three years of qualifying full-time work experience to become a Certified Financial Planner.

CONSUMER JOURNALISM

Provides the opportunity to combine an area of interest from the College of Family and Consumer Sciences with an area of emphasis from the Grady College of Journalism and Mass Communication. Students take coursework in consumer economics, housing, child and family development, fashion merchandising, or consumer foods as well as advertising, public relations, journalism, or telecommunications. Students also may take New Media Institute courses to satisfy the journalism area of emphasis. Consumer Journalism is a high-demand major; we generally have more applicants than we can accept. To be considered for admission into the major, you are required to have completed appropriate courses in Areas I-V of the general education curriculum. In addition, you must have a cum GPA of 2.0, have an overall GPA of 2.8 or better in Areas I, II, III and V and submit a written statement of career goals. Applications for admission will be accepted up to the 3rd Friday of Fall and Spring Semesters. Meeting the requirements for admission does not guarantee admission. For information about applying to the major, visit http://www.fcs.uga.edu/fhce/undergraduate-consumer-journalism.
ADVISING

All majors in the department will be assigned to the department’s academic advisor. To make an appointment with the departmental advisor, go to the following address:
http://www.fcs.uga.edu/ssac/advising

The advisor will provide suggestions about class schedules, career and internship opportunities, study tours, or other opportunities. Watch the departmental listserv (see below) for announcements about when advising begins and ends each semester. It is important to make and keep an advising appointment EVERY semester.

Even if you expect to graduate this semester, you still need to see your advisor. See your advisor early in the semester just in case there are problems that could prevent you from graduating.

  Departmental Listserv  ************

All majors in the department must sign up for our listserv!

Once you register for the listserv, you’ll receive important information about advising, student organizations, changes in course offerings and class schedules, scholarships, internships, and job opportunities.

If you haven’t received a message from the department’s listserv (VFHCE), you may not be subscribed. To sign up go to http://www.listserv.uga.edu/cgi-bin/wa?SUBED1=vfhce&A=1

If you are subscribed and aren’t receiving e-mail, check the filter setting on your e-mail. You may remove yourself from this listserv at any time by sending an e-mail to LISTSERV@LISTSERV.UGA.EDU with the following text as the body of the e-mail:
SIGNOFF VFHCE
Please DO NOT use quotation marks or add any other text to the body of the message.
ACADEMIC HONESTY POLICY

The professors and graduate assistants in the Department of Financial Planning, Housing and Consumer Economics take academic honesty very seriously. You should, too! The University seeks to promote and ensure academic honesty and personal integrity among students and other members of the University community. Academic honesty means performing academic work without cheating, lying, tampering, stealing, receiving assistance from any other person or using any other source of information that is not common knowledge (unless that assistance or use is authorized by the person responsible for supervising that academic work or fairly attributed to the source of assistance or information).
See http://www.uga.edu/honesty/

GRADUATION CHECK

Make an appointment with your advisor once you’ve reached 90 hours to go over final paper work. Make sure that P.E., U.S. and Georgia Constitution, U.S. and Georgia History, Environmental Literacy and Cultural Diversity requirements are completed.

TRANSFERRING CREDITS

If you choose to take classes at a different university, make sure that the credits will properly transfer. If you are unsure, check with the department that offers the course at UGA. Faculty and advisors cannot evaluate courses outside of the Department of Financial Planning, Housing and Consumer Economics for transfer. For more information use the Transfer Equivalency Search function in the UGA Online Bulletin.

DOUBLE MAJOR / DUAL DEGREES

What is a Double Major?
A double major is two separate majors in the same degree. A double major is earned when the requirements for a major in each of the two areas are satisfied and the requirements for the degree are satisfied. It is sometimes possible to count the same course twice, once in each major, to satisfy the major requirements.

What is a Dual Degree?
When two separate degrees are earned, this is called a dual degree. A student or a graduate in any program may receive the baccalaureate degree of any other program by completing the additional studies required in that program. The minimum resident requirement is 30 semester hours. Courses taken in residence at the University of Georgia for the purpose of meeting program requirements for one degree may be counted toward the resident requirement for the second degree. (Students not enrolled at the University for a period of five years or more must complete 30 semester hours in residence for the second degree in addition to the courses taken to satisfy the first degree.) Individual schools and colleges within the University may impose additional resident requirements.

HONORS COURSE OPTIONS

Honors students may enroll in upper-division classes in the major with Honors Option to pursue a subject more deeply within the setting of a regular course. Students may arrange additional readings and other assignments with the class instructor and secure Honors credit for these classes. Honors students also may enroll in directed study classes which enable them to work independently on a sustained research project under the guidance of a faculty member, usually leading to an Honors thesis.
PLUS/MINUS GRADING

The University of Georgia uses a plus/minus grading system. Grades and numerical equivalents under this system are: A (4.0), A- (3.7), B+ (3.3), B (3.0), B- (2.7), C+ (2.3), C (2.0), C- (1.7), D (1.0) and F (0.0). The plus/minus will be listed on the student’s transcript. No grades previously issued without the plus/minus will be converted or changed to plus/minus.

For purposes of University policies or regulations which state that "a grade of C or better is required," a grade of C will be considered a 2.0. This means that for these policies and regulations, a grade of C- will not satisfy the standard.

E-MAIL ACCOUNTS

Students must have and use e-mail. The University of Georgia requires every student to have an e-mail address to which official University communications can be sent. That address is myid@uga.edu. You can forward that e-mail to another account if you use the other account more often.

Many faculty and advisors request your e-mail address and expect you to read and respond to the e-mail they send. If you change your e-mail address during the year, either:

- Let everyone know when you make a change (hard to remember!) OR
- Give everyone your myid@uga.edu e-mail address and change the forwarding each time you change your other e-mail address.

To forward your UGA e-mail to another account:

   Go to http://www.ugamail.uga.edu
   Select Options, then Forwarding
   Type in the e-mail address to which you want to have your mail forwarded and select Start.

When you choose an e-mail address try to avoid using “clever” names that project an unprofessional image. Using your UGA e-mail account to send e-mail to your professors increases the chances your e-mail will be read.

WITHDRAWING FROM COURSES

Don’t register for courses you don’t intend to complete. You only have the first few days of classes to drop and add courses. If you withdraw before the withdrawal deadline and are failing the course, some instructors will assign a grade of WF for the course. A WF counts in your grade point average and still stands when you retake the course. If you haven’t attended class and/or have missed or failed homework and exams, you are failing the course. If you withdraw after the withdrawal deadline, a professor must assign a WF unless you have a “hardship situation” (http://www.uga.edu/studentaffairs/students/withdrawals.htm). Talk with your professor and your advisor before withdrawing from any course. NEVER wait until the deadline to withdraw. Students are limited to a total of four withdrawals while pursuing their undergraduate degree.

PODs for Courses Outside the Department

(Permission of Department)

Some courses that can be used to meet Electives requirements are in other departments. We cannot help you get PODs for elective courses outside the department.

College of Journalism and Mass Communications courses for Consumer Journalism majors: The department can request a limited number of PODs for College of Journalism courses that require PODs. We will request PODs early in the semester only for students who have been admitted to the Consumer Journalism major. We cannot request PODs for Intended Consumer Journalism majors. We receive a limited number of PODs for each course so graduating seniors have priority. Without a POD, you won’t be able to register for the course.

You must see your advisor no later than the seventh week of the semester, have completed or be registered for the prerequisite, and register in a timely manner. After your advising session, we will not make any changes to or add any POD or POM requests except when the original request to the College of Journalism and Mass Communications has been denied. Once we receive the POD, the course will appear on OASIS as available to you. You still will need to actually register for the course.

If you change your mind and do not want to use the POD, please notify your advisor immediately. Under no circumstances should an Intended Consumer Journalism major or a Consumer Journalism major attempt to secure a POD for Grady college courses without going through your Financial Planning, Housing and Consumer Economics advisor.

eLearning Commons (eLC)

Most professors use eLC-new. Don’t forget to check the eLC site before each class. If a course is showing up on your eLC and you don’t think you’re registered for that course, check it out! If it’s a course you took last semester, your professor may have forgotten to reset the course. Ask him/her to do that.

You may be registered for all of the courses showing up on your eLC! It’s your responsibility to check it out.
CAREER PLACEMENT

One of the strengths of the Financial Planning, Housing and Consumer Economics Department is the placement of our graduates. Graduates of our program choose a variety of career paths. OPPORTUNITIES TO LEARN
OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM

Internship and Independent Study Opportunities: Many students in the department complete internships. You are required to take FHCE 5900 before choosing your internship. In this course you will hear about many internship opportunities and receive advice about setting up an internship.
You also should talk with your advisor if you would like to do an internship or independent study.

Travel Study: There are several travel-study courses offered through the College. Ask your advisor for information about international study opportunities.

Outreach: Outreach faculty for the department develop, implement and evaluate educational programs for Georgians through Cooperative Extension and other outreach programs. Extension educational programs, available in all 159 counties, help consumers to improve economic well-being and quality of life. There are employment, internship, and directed study opportunities with our Outreach Faculty. For information, contact:

Undergraduate Scholarships – February 15
UNDERGRADUATE SCHOLARSHIPS

Leonora Anderson Scholarship
This scholarship is available to undergraduate students who have been accepted or are currently enrolled in the Textiles, Merchandising and Interiors Department.

Zena Brown Scholarship
This scholarship is for undergraduate students enrolled in the College of Family and Consumer Sciences. Criteria for the scholarship is based on merit.

William O. Caster Scholarship
Dr. William O. Caster was a professor in the department of Foods and Nutrition, who held a deep interest in the sciences related to Nutrition. His colleagues, former students, and friends created this fund in his memory. It is intended to fund a graduate or undergraduate student studying Nutrition Science with a superior academic record and ability in scientific inquiry.

Lois Dowdle Cobb Scholarship
This award is for an undergraduate student in the College who has excelled in 4-H. Participation in 4-H must be documented.

Iris Price Dover Scholarship
Iris Price Dover attended Georgia Southern University for two years and transferred to UGA following her sisters, Virginia Price Turner and Marion Price Elkin. Mrs. Dover believed her FACS background gave her a well-rounded education that prepared her for life. She and her sisters have created a true family legacy by establishing three endowments in our College.

Marion Louise Price Elkin Scholarship
This scholarship is open to students who will be sophomores, juniors or seniors during the academic year for which the award is made. At least 30 semester hours must be remaining to complete the degree program. Demonstrated financial need will be considered. Preference will be given to applicants from Washington, Johnson, Columbia or Toombs counties.

Pearce L. and Mary Wells Elkins Scholarship
The Pearce L. and Mary Wells Elkins scholarship is available for an undergraduate student over the traditional age (25+) with demonstrated financial need. The student must be currently enrolled in the College and have a minimum GPA or predicted GPA of 3.0.

Hazel And Gene Franklin Scholarship
This scholarship is available for both graduate and undergraduate students. Applicants must have at least two semesters remaining in their degree program. Applicants must present evidence of academic excellence and professional commitment.

Florence Guill Garner Scholarship
This scholarship is available to Child and Family Development majors enrolled in the college who intend to become certified to teach.

Doe Harden Scholarship
This scholarship is open to either a graduate or undergraduate student who has demonstrated outstanding academic performance, professional potential and student leadership. Financial need will be a primary consideration. 4-H activity will be rewarded and should be documented.

Grace Hartley Scholarships
Two scholarships are available to students majoring in Consumer Journalism. In addition to academic excellence, evidence of leadership ability and professional interest must be presented. Applicants must attain junior standing by the beginning of the academic year for which the scholarship is awarded. A successful junior applicant may apply for continuance of the scholarship through the senior year.

Rebecca Allison Hitchcock Scholarship
This scholarship is dedicated to the memory of the infant daughter of John and Elizabeth Hitchcock of Milledgeville. The scholarship is open to Child and Family Development majors currently enrolled in the College who are seeking to pursue the Child Life Option and work with seriously ill children and their families.

Opal Ward Jones Scholarship
Students who have reached junior standing and have a minimum of 30 semester hours of work as a student enrolled in the college are eligible to apply for this scholarship. Professional and campus activities should provide evidence of leadership potential.

Rosabelle Carr Koelsche Scholarship
This scholarship is open to both undergraduate and graduate students enrolled in the College. Undergraduate applicants should have at least 45 semester hours of coursework remaining in which to complete their programs.

Marian Chesnut McCullers Scholarship
This scholarship shall be awarded to either a graduate or undergraduate student in the College of Family and Consumer Sciences with a preference given but not limited to students in the Housing and Consumer Economics Department.

Mize-Infinity Scholarship
The purpose of the fund is to provide scholarship support to an undergraduate student from Georgia in the department of Housing and Consumer Economics within the College.

George Griffeth And Leonel Chapman Montgomery Scholarship
This scholarship is open to undergraduate students who are sophomores, juniors, or seniors in the year for which the award will be given and have at least 30 semester hours remaining to complete their degree program. Financial need will be taken into consideration, and preference will be given to applicants from Jackson or Marion counties.

Gladys F. (Nannie) Nesbitt/Flatt Academic Achievement Fund
This scholarship is available to students in human nutrition or other majors related to the Food Industry who have demonstrated service and involvement in extracurricular activities such as student governance and leadership. Financial need will be considered.

Emily Quinn Pou And Joe (J.W.) Pou Scholarship
This scholarship is open to undergraduate and graduate students currently enrolled in the College who have at least two semesters remaining in which to complete their degree program.
International Study Awards

McGill and Dean Family International Study Award
2003 was a memorable year for two-time FACS alumna, Kelly McGill Dean and her husband, Stanley. In November, they had their first child and on the day of little Mitchell’s birth, Kelly’s parents told them they were surprising them with an endowment in their honor. This gesture of family philanthropy was instituted to promote their values of giving back to future generations.

Claudia Stowers Noell International Study Award
This award was established by friends and family of Mrs. Noell as a surprise during her year of service as the FACS Alumni Association President in 1999-2000. Mrs. Noell is a 1964 FACS graduate and is retired from the UGA Extension Service where she served as the Clarke County extension agent.

Glenn Burton International Study Award
Dr. Glenn Burton conducted research in countries where an increased food supply was drastically needed. This award is presented to a Foods and Nutrition major’s research and study, preferably in a developing country.

Zena Costa Brown International Study Award
Zena Costa Brown, an alumna of the College, discovered a passion for travel upon her retirement. She established this fund in recognition of how much international travel experiences broaden one’s horizons and to fulfill her desire to assist deserving students financially.

Betty Davison Garcia International Study Award
Mrs. Garcia, a FACS alumna of 1953, was a long time employee of Rich’s Bridal Center. She is also an accomplished gardener and a student of interior design. She has enjoyed many fascinating trips in her lifetime both within the states and abroad. She wants to help provide such opportunities to FACS students and looks forward to hearing about their experiences.

Anne Montgomery Haltiwanger International Study Award
In honor of his 10th wedding anniversary to his wife, Anne, Dr. Earl Haltiwanger decided to present her with an International Study Award endowment on Valentine’s Day. Flowers wilt, jewelry can be lost, but an endowment at UGA is forever and future generations of FACS students will benefit by a FACS study abroad experience.

Grace Hartley International Study Award
Mrs. Grace Hartley Germon, foods writer and editor for The Atlanta Journal and The Atlanta Journal-Constitution, was a longtime friend and supporter of the College. The Georgia Egg Commission established a scholarship in her honor for Consumer Journalism majors. When “Miss Grace” died Sept. 14, 2000 at the age of 95, she endowed the College with additional funds for a study abroad award.

Sarah L. Huff International Study Award
Sarah Lester Huff was born in Athens and attended the Lucy Cobb Institute for Women. As an adult, she enjoyed a long career with the First National Bank of Athens. She and her husband, Elcoe Huff, took many trips and valued education. Sarah did not have the opportunity to attend college much less travel as a young person. Through this fund, students today have the opportunity to broaden their horizons and take their academic experiences outside the classroom.

Sharon Y. Nichols International Study Award
To honor her for her ten years of service as Dean of the College of Family and Consumer Sciences, colleagues, alumni, faculty, staff, friends and family established this endowment in the name of Dean Sharon Nichols. Dean Nichols is committed to ensuring as many students as possible from FACS have an international study experience to broaden their classroom experiences as a UGA student.

Betty Sewell Ragland International Study Award
Mrs. Betty Sewell Ragland (BSHE ’59) decided to establish an international study award to provide an opportunity for students with leadership abilities to broaden their horizons. When her daughter, Kay (BSFCS ’95), studied in Italy as a Furnishings and Interiors major, Mrs. Ragland observed the positive influence this experience had within her own family.

Sally Schley Stith International Study Award
This award was established by Sally Schley Stith (BSHE ’65) and her husband, Alan Stith (BBA ’64). The Stiths have traveled widely and support the purpose of study abroad, as they have broadened their own education through the study of other cultures. The Stiths’ UGA ties run throughout their family as their two sons are also UGA graduates.

Given in honor of his daughters, Melynda Flatt Reid and Katherine Ann Flatt Hutto, Dr. Bill Flatt recognized students who are working to promote healthy lifestyles and good nutrition. This scholarship should be awarded to an undergraduate student majoring in Dietetics who has demonstrated leadership and service within UGA. GPA should be considered but not as the primary criterion.

Pam McIntyre Thompson, R.D. Scholarship
This scholarship is open to students who will be sophomores, juniors or seniors during the academic year for which the award will be made. At least 30 semester hours must be remaining to complete the degree program. Demonstrated financial need will be considered. Preference will be given to applicants from Washington, Johnson or Oglethorpe counties.

Marian Wang Scholarship
The Marian Wang scholarship recognizes an outstanding Family and Consumer Sciences undergraduate or graduate student majoring in Dietetics.

Karin E. Willis Scholarship
This scholarship is open to graduate and undergraduate students with a minimum GPA of 2.75, and is renewable. Preference will be given to student athletes, including cheerleaders and twirlers.
