Lecturer in Human Development and Family Science #68429

The University of Georgia College of Family and Consumer Sciences is seeking applications for a Lecturer in Human Development and Family Science, focused on instruction in the undergraduate program. The position is a nine-month academic year appointment, non-tenure track. Start date: August 15, 2014.

The University of Georgia, located in Athens, Georgia, is a Research I, land grant institution in the University System of Georgia. Founded in 1785, the University of Georgia is the largest and most comprehensive educational institution in the state. The campus and community of Athens offer many cultural and recreational opportunities. UGA has approximately 36,000 undergraduate students and has been ranked by U.S. News and World Report as one of the top 20 public institutions of higher education in the United States. The Athens campus is approximately 60 miles from the Blue Ridge Mountains and 185 miles from the coast. Visit the University’s website at www.uga.edu for additional information.

The Department of Human Development and Family Science has 24 faculty, 400 undergraduates, and 50 graduate students. The multidisciplinary program emphasizes diversity in families through the life cycle. More information about the department and College can be found at www.fcs.uga.edu.

Qualifications: Earned doctorate in Human Development and Family Science at the time of application, or in a closely related area (social work, psychology, education, public health, sociology). The successful candidate must show clear and convincing evidence of emerging stature in teaching in the HDFS discipline.

Responsibilities: Teach undergraduate courses in multiple substantive areas in the department; advise undergraduate students; participate in department, college and university governance, as well as in professional organizations; publish in areas related to pedagogy.

Applications: To ensure full consideration, application materials should be received by June 15, 2014. The position is open until filled. The application packet must include a cover letter of interest that addresses how credentials and experience meet the responsibilities and qualifications of the position; a statement of teach philosophy; current curriculum vitae; no less than three letters of recommendation.

Email submissions with attachments preferred. Please send to: hdfsearch@fcs.uga.edu
In lieu of email submission, written application materials may be directed to:

Dr. Melissa Landers-Potts
HDFS Lecturer Position Search Chair
Department of Human Development and Family Science
College of Family and Consumer Sciences
University of Georgia,
123 Dawson Hall
Athens, GA 30602

Confidential requests for information should be directed to Dr. Melissa Landers-Potts, Search Committee Chair, University of Georgia, 706-542-4859 (mlpotts@uga.edu).