Overview

General Eligibility

In order to qualify for scholarships, you must meet the following criteria:

1. Be admitted into an approved undergraduate or graduate program in the College of Family and Consumer Sciences.
2. Have completed a FASFA for the current academic year, if they’re applying for a need based scholarship.
3. Meet any additional criteria that are specific to the scholarship for which they are applying.

Major Related Criteria

Any scholarship criteria that mentions enrollment in a specific major as condition for eligibility, requires that you be admitted to the major. Any scholarship that mentions preference given to US citizens or Permanent US residents as condition for eligibility requires that you show proof of citizenship or permanent residence in the United States.

Financial Need requirements

Some scholarships require that you submit financial information when applying and have a financial need at the time the scholarship is awarded. 2014-2015 OASIS award letters may not be available before scholarship applications are due. Accordingly, 2013-2014 award letters are acceptable. However, a 2014-2015 FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) must be completed.

Additionally, the following scholarships are open only to students who have an established financial need and require submission of an OASIS award letter and a FAFSA student aid report (SAR).
