

Proposed Research on Motivating Health Savings Account (HSA) Funding

Presented by:

Anne Duke

Housing & Consumer Economics, Ph.D. candidate

The research method proposed is to conduct a stated choice model experiment in order to discover ways to motivate HSA funding through insurance plan design. Behavioral economic theory is utilized.

Department of Housing & Consumer Economics

College of Family and Consumer Sciences - The University of Georgia

Seminar

Monday, April 25th

310 Dawson Hall ~ 3:35 - 4:25 pm