CONCEPT & CONCEPT STATEMENT

“A comfortable and accessible cottage home with natural southern charm”

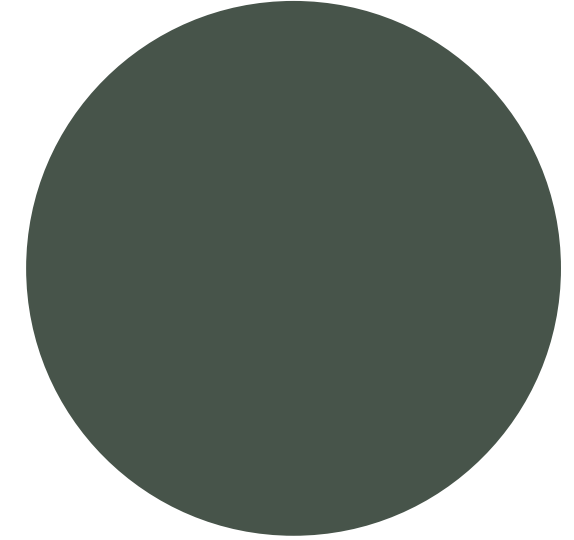

This country cottage home, designed to the specification of Ms. Hill, will serve as her primary living as a two bedroom, two bath home. It was designed to accentuate what she finds attractive and accessible. Throughout the home, and emphasis is placed on her artwork, and natural materials to achieve a more traditional and classic style. These natural materials can mainly be seen in the dark stained woodwork throughout the home. The design will cater to her needs and the function of daily life while filling the space with antique inspired furniture and casework. The public space will be suitable for movement throughout the home in a wheelchair and welcoming for small gatherings. The private space will be easily navigable, aesthetically pleasing, and specific to Ms. Hill's preferences. This space is purposefully separated from the more public spaces of the house, not just by their walls, but in their design and the use of color and wallcoverings. A majority of the color inside the home comes from these private spaces and creates a meaningful and unique personal sanctuary. Storage space within the home is maximized in the furniture and is available from a functional height. Lots of natural plants fill the home, bringing life to the space. Natural materials in combination with a mix of modern American colonial and craftsman styles contribute to a comfortable and accessible cottage home with natural southern charm.
