MARRIAGE AND FAMILY THERAPY

PRE-PROFESSIONAL GRADUATE CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

The Pre-Professional Graduate Certificate Program in Marriage and Family Therapy (CMFT) is designed to provide an interdisciplinary program for graduate students interested in the applied field of marriage and family therapy. The program is for graduate students concurrently enrolled in a program at UGA, and where they can see clients in a clinical setting during their degree program. Completion of the requirements for the certificate program will provide a strong basis preparing the student to undertake further supervised clinical training in marriage and family therapy. The certificate program is not intended to provide all the training necessary to function as an independent professional nor to meet all the requirements for (a) state licensure as a marriage and family therapist or (b) clinical membership in the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy. The certificate program attempts to meet the course requirements, but not the practicum requirements for licensure in Georgia. For a practicum to count towards licensure, the student must see couples and/or family clients under the supervision of a licensed professional for 500 client contact hours over 12 consecutive months. Even though we have applied our best efforts to structure the program's curriculum to meet Georgia's state requirements, it is the student's responsibility to stay abreast of the requirements for state licensure in Marriage and Family Therapy. The requirements are available on the Georgia Secretary of State's website: <http://sos.ga.gov/index.php/licensing/plb/43> in the FAQ section.

The Certificate program involves three units of the University of Georgia: The College of Education, the College of Family and Consumer Sciences, and the School of Social Work. Graduate courses that may be used to fulfill requirements for the certificate program are offered in several units of the University of Georgia including the Department of Human Development and Family Science, the Department of Counseling and Human Development Services, the School of Social Work, the Department of Psychology, and the Department of Educational Psychology.

To be admitted, the student must be admitted to a department at the University of Georgia at the graduate level. The student must complete a practicum at a site with appropriate supervision approved by the student's department. The graduate student and his/her advisor in the student's academic department plan the program of study to fulfill the requirements of the certificate program and submit an application for admission to the MFT certificate program to the MFT unit coordinator in his/her department. Courses in the certificate program may also apply to the degree program in the student's academic department, depending on departmental approval.

For master's degree students, the certificate will be awarded upon completion of the certificate requirements and completion of the master's degree program in which the student is enrolled. For students already holding a master's degree, the certificate will be awarded at the end of the semester in which the certificate requirements are satisfied.

CURRICULUM

The certificate program requires a student to complete 21 hours of credit. These must include 15 hours of core courses and 6 hours of practicum. The core curriculum hours will be distributed as follows: 3 hours in Professional Studies; 6 hours in Couple and Family Studies; and 6 hours in Marriage and Family Therapy. Any of these courses may also be in partial completion of requirements in the graduate degree program of the student's department/school. Practicum hours will be completed through registration in the practicum programs of the student's department/school. UGA practicum is required. At least 6 hours of the core course hours must be taken outside of the student's department/school. This requirement is designed to reflect the interdisciplinary nature of the field of marriage and family therapy and this certificate program. Students are encouraged to take more than the minimum 6 hours of course work outside of their own department. Please note: the professional studies course ECHD/SOWK 7140 counts towards 3 of the 6 hours even if the course is taught in the student's own department. No more than 3 of the 15 hours may be taken in split graduate/undergraduate courses. A grade of "B" or better must be earned for a course to count toward completion of the certificate.

The course curriculum is as follows. Any graduate prerequisites are indicated in parentheses. These courses are subject to change. Check with certificate faculty to determine which courses are currently available.

Practicum in Marriage and Family Therapy (6 hours)

Students will register for practicum in their own programs of graduate study. Most agencies require at least two consecutive semesters of time commitment for practicum. The certificate program requires at least a two-semester commitment. Students are encouraged to enroll in more than the minimum hours of practicum. An appropriate practicum must provide the student the opportunity to work with couples and family clients under faculty supervision. Students whose practica allow opportunity for practice from a family systems perspective may earn the MFT certificate. Students are urged to seek practicum sites that meet this requirement through her/his own department/school. The hours accrued during practicum will not count towards MFT licensure unless supervised by an AAMFT approved supervisor. Generally, certificate students who would like MFT licensure will need to complete supervised hours post-graduation.

Note: Please check State of Georgia requirements for MFT Licensure if you are interested in seeking licensure as an MFT via the certificate program (Chapter 135-5-.06). This information is available at: <http://rules.sos.ga.gov/gac/135-5-.05>

Procedures for Applying to MFT Certificate Program

1. Apply to, gain admission to, and enroll in a graduate degree program at the University of Georgia.
2. Discuss your interest in the interdisciplinary certificate program in Marriage and Family Therapy with your regular academic advisor in your department.
3. Set your appointment with the CMFT Program Unit Coordinator in your department/school to discuss your interests.
4. Identify an appropriate practicum site and discuss the opportunities for placement with your advisor, the Unit Coordinator, and the director of the practicum facility. It is imperative that opportunities exist for you to work with couples and families in your practicum under the supervision of someone trained in Marriage and Family Therapy if you want to use these hours to count for licensure as a marriage and family therapist. A facility which typically has a caseload of only individuals seeking therapeutic assistance would not provide you the opportunity to receive supervised experience credit hours of practicum required for licensure in MFT. It is important to note that most approved practicum sites require evidence of sufficient therapeutic competency to warrant assignment of a couple or family.
5. In consultation with your advisor and/or the Unit Coordinator plan your curriculum to meet your degree requirements and the certificate program requirements.
6. Complete the "Application for Admission to the MFT Certificate Program" form. A blank form is in this handbook.
7. Submit this form to the MFT Unit Coordinator of your respective college. Example: students in the School of Social Work should submit to Dr. Michael Robinson, Unit Coordinator, Social Work.

8. Your MFT Unit Coordinator will review your application and make an admission decision. The MFT certificate program will communicate your decision to you either in person or via email. Once you are admitted to the MFT certificate program you should start pursuing the MFT certificate coursework you discussed with your regular advisor and your MFT Unit Coordinator. Your Unit Coordinator will forward your approved application to the MFT Program Coordinator and MFT program graduate assistant so you are added to the MFT email list and receive important MFT certificate information, timelines, and course information.

Note:

- Application to the program should take place relatively early in your degree program to ensure appropriate curriculum planning. In Social Work, the application must be submitted by January 15 of the year preceding Concentration practicum. Advanced Standing students must submit the application by August 30.
