DESIGN STATEMENT

The design of the home is designed for the ease of access for a wheelchair bound individual. This design is a combination of ADA compliant design and beautiful unique elements that are specific to Louise Hill.

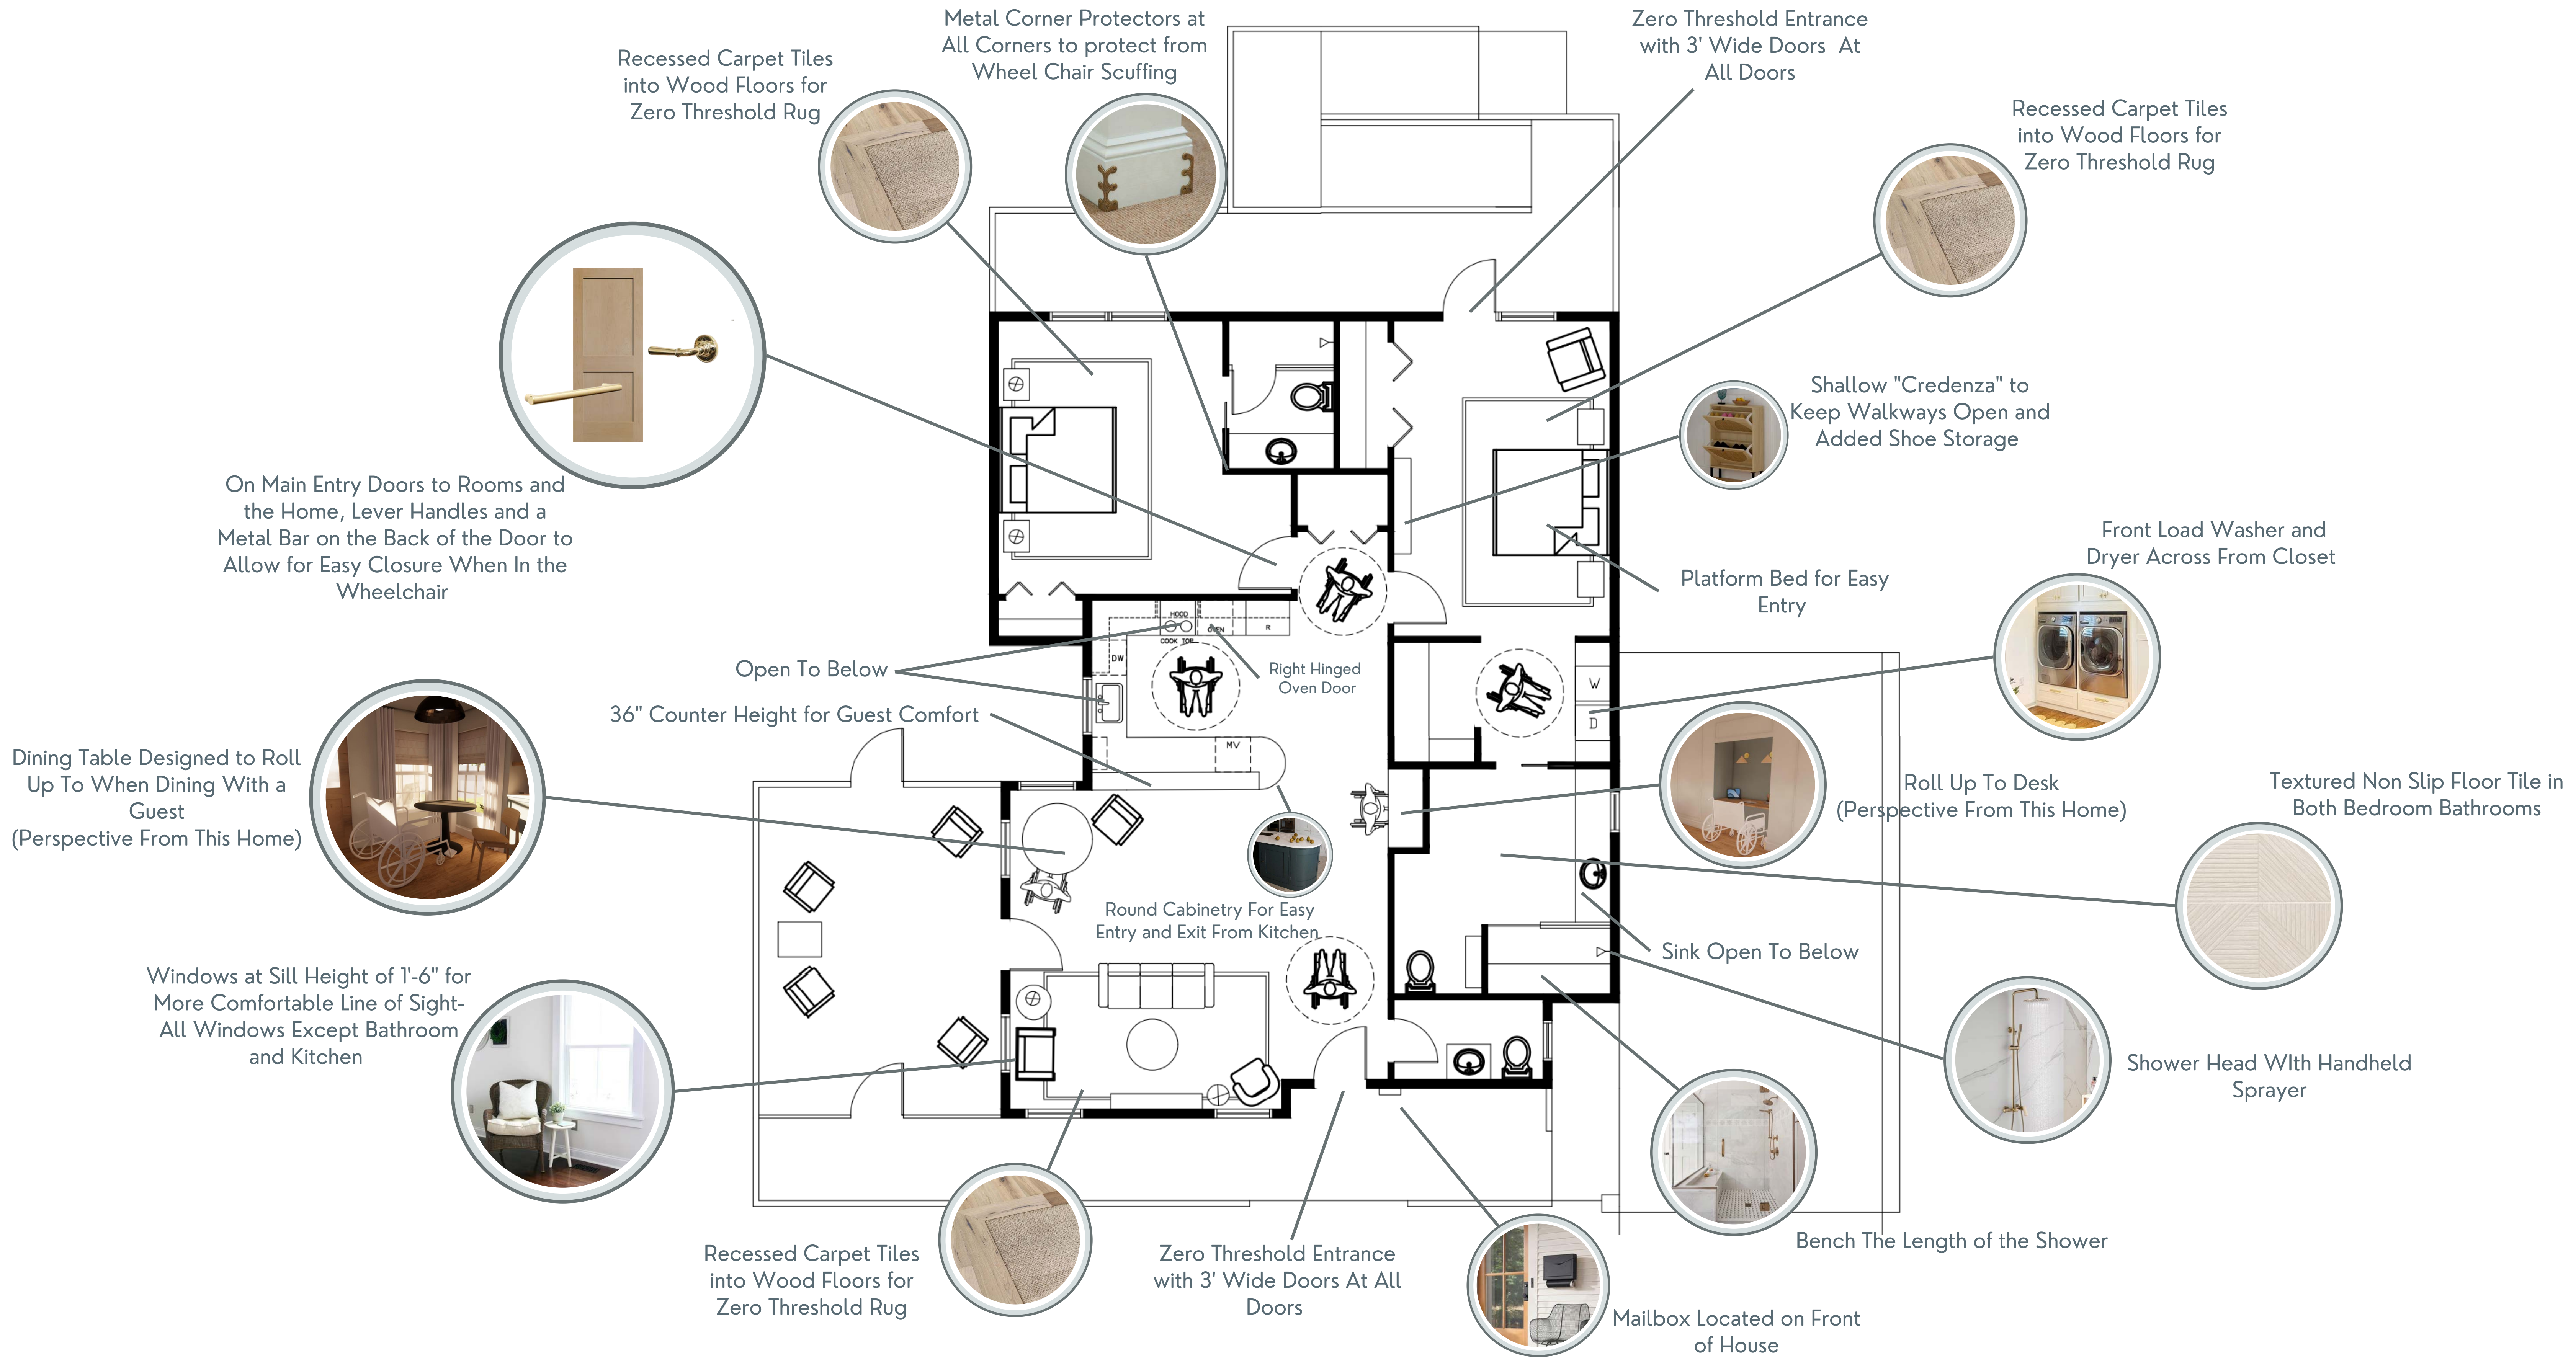

Designed to be located in a quaint beach town, the home reflects this environment with bright, costal colors that play a role in the individuals overall mood, restfulness and calmness. More specific to Mrs. Hill, each doorway is complete with a zero threshold, 3 foot wide door, and a custom grab bar pull on the back to allow for easy closure. Also, throughout the home are custom metal corner protectors.

These protectors not only provide a unique detail to the home but they also holds purpose to protect scuffing and dents from maybe cutting a corner too close in the wheelchair. Moving into the living room, as well as in both bedrooms, is a zero threshold carpet tile rug. These carpet tiles are recessed into the wood floor so there is no height change, making no lip that may be difficult to roll over. This unique detail in the design brings the aesthetic appeal and warmth of a rug to this home but is inclusive to Mrs. Hill. Entering into the kitchen is even easier with curved cabinets located on the end of the peninsula. Cutting out these minor obstacles is key to the unique design of this home. This as well as the open areas underneath the countertops is a detail that was specified for an individual in a wheelchair to make the kitchen useable for them. All of the countertops are adjusted to ADA height with the exception of the counter facing the living room. This is normal height to account for guests who may not be in a wheelchair, so they feel comfortable in the home as well. The master suite is included with the laundry right off of the closet to cut the journey from the bedroom across the home to a laundry room. The master bathroom includes a large shower with a built in bench that expands the whole shower as well as a shower head with a hand help sprayer making showering easier. Throughout all bathrooms are grab bars that are specifically selected to not look institutional, but to match the aesthetics of the home. As you look throughout the design of this home, aesthetic is in mind but each element is carefully specified with the client in mind to make her feel at home in her home.
