EDUCATION

Ph.D., 1994, Child Development, Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana, USA.
B.A., 1980, Education, National Chengchi University, Taipei, Taiwan.

PROFESSIONAL POSITIONS

Professor Emerita, Department of Human Development and Family Science, University of Georgia, 2018 – present.
Professor, Department of Human Development and Family Science, University of Georgia, 2014-2018.
Visiting Professor, School and Graduate Institute of Physical Therapy, College of Medicine, National Taiwan University, Taiwan, July 2014 – July 2015.
Associate Professor, Department of Child and Family Development, University of Georgia, 2004-2012 (graduate coordinator, 2003-2004).
Adjunct Associate Professor, Department of Psychology (Lifespan Development Psychology), University of Georgia, 2004-2014.
Visiting Associate Professor, School and Graduate Institute of Physical Therapy, College of Medicine, National Taiwan University, Taiwan, August 2005-July 2006.
Assistant Professor, Department of Child and Family Development, University of Georgia, 1998-2004.
Adjunct Assistant Professor, Department of Psychology, University of Georgia, 2001-2004.
Adjunct Faculty, Department of Psychology, University of Utah, 1994-1998.
Post Doctoral Research Associate, Department of Psychology, University of Utah, 1994-1998.
Research Associate, Department of Psychology, Duke University, 1992-1994.

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

Specialized Training

Saliva Data Collection and Analysis (2011, September). Attended the Spit Camp at the Center for Interdisciplinary Salivary Bioscience Research, School of Nursing, Johns Hopkins University. Acquired training on saliva collection and analysis of two stress related salivary analytes, cortisol and alpha-amylase.

Hierarchical Linear Modeling (1996, September). Attended the Multilevel Modeling Applications workshop at the School of Public Health, University of Texas-Houston using ML*n* program, which is designed for analyzing data with a nested structure and repeated observations over time. Audited courses (2012-2013) on confirmatory factor analysis, structural equation modeling, multilevel modeling, and latent growth curve analysis through the applications of AMOS, HLM, and Mplus.

Facial Action Coding System (1995, January-May). Trained and certified in the anatomically based Facial Actions Coding System. This is the most widely used method for measuring and describing facial behaviors, which allows for identifying the duration, intensity, and asymmetry of specific changes in facial muscular contractions.

Recognitions

Who's Who in America. 2006, 60th Edition.

Who's Who in American Education. 2006-2007, 7th Edition.
 Fulbright Scholar Program, Council for International Exchange of Scholars, Institute of International Education. Fulbright Research Scholar, 2005-2006. Alternate candidate, 2012-2013.
 Chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta, Honor Society of Agriculture, University of Georgia. Junior Faculty Research Award. 2004.
 Phi Beta Delta Honor Society for International Scholars, University of Georgia. 1999.
 Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, Purdue University. Member. West Lafayette, Indiana, 1993-1994.

Society Memberships

Society for Research in Child Development. Member. 1987- 2017.
 International Society on Infant Studies. Member. 1987- 2017.
 American Psychological Association. Member. 2001-2010.
 American Association for Family and Consumer Science. Member. 1998-2000.

Book and Book Proposal Reviews

Allyn & Bacon; Blackwell; Erlbaum; Pearson; Wiley.

Editorial Review Board and Journal Reviews
