III. OUTREACH AND RESEARCH INTEREST

I research couple and co-parenting relationships across various contexts in order to inform the development of educational programs and resources that promote healthy and stable families. As well, I evaluate the efficacy of family life programs in order to better understand educational practices that lead to healthy couple and family relationships. To learn more about my research, visit <http://www.fcs.uga.edu/hdfs/care-lab>.

As an Extension Specialist, I provide statewide support in promoting family health and stability through relationship and marriage enrichment with youth and adults, parenting education, positive youth development, and community-capacity building efforts. To learn more about my outreach, visit www.gamarriages.org.

Currently, I direct a five-year $8.2M federally funded initiative, Project F.R.E.E. (Fostering Relationship and Economic Enrichment), in collaboration with a multi-disciplinary team of UGA faculty and community partners. Project F.R.E.E. is creating positive and stable homes for children across Northeast Georgia by providing evidence-informed programs that promote healthy couple and co-parenting relationships and financial capability. To learn more about this project, visit www.ugaprojecfree.com.
